

Plants also need water.
Without water, plants would wither and die.

The smallest pores fill with water first.

The largest pores fill with water last.

A good mix of small, medium and large pores ensures that there will be both enough water and air for plants.